● Tips for Reluctant Readers

- Start tiny. One poem counts as a full read — celebrate it just as big as a whole chapter.
- Let them pick. Choosing the poem themselves builds ownership and excitement.
- Read it silly. Try funny voices or act out a line — poetry loves to be performed.
- Buddy up. Take turns reading lines aloud together so it feels shared, not solo.
- Talk about it after. Ask "what was your favorite line?" instead of quizzing for facts.
- No streak-breaking guilt. Missed a day? Just hop back on the path — no clouds erased!
